

Bibliography of Central European Military Handbooks 1550–1650

Early modern military handbooks are one of the important sources to study contemporary military history, but also a remarkable part of cultural heritage which is still present in many castle libraries and other book collections. Their research from the perspective of book history is still quite new. The interest of scholars in early modern military culture might increase in 2018 – as that year marks the 400th anniversary of the start of the Thirty Years' War.

Bibliography of military handbooks

The bibliography should serve as a manual for historians, archaeologists and other scholars doing their research in early modern wars and warfare, in the everyday life of people within the army at that time or, for example, in the development of early modern sciences.

Bibliography of Central European Military Handbooks 1550–1650

Data in the bibliography:

Bibliographic data

Prosopographic data

Classification

Links to digital copies

Citations of other bibliographies

Researched area:

Bohemia and Moravia

Holy Roman Empire

Hungary

Poland

Swiss Confederation

Excerpted on-line bibliographies:

Universal Short Title Catalogue

VD16, VD17

GLN 15–16

Knihopis

Bibliografia Staropolska

Magyar nemzeti bibliográfia

