

COST/IRHT – TRAINING SCHOOL

TRANSMISSION OF TEXTS

NEWS TOOLS, NEW APPROACHES

31 March-4 April 2014

Institut de recherche et d'histoire des textes (IRHT, Paris) is pleased to announce the Training School "Transmission of texts: new tools, new approaches". It is funded by COST ACTION IS 1005 (Medieval Europe. Medieval Cultures and Technological Resources www.medioevoeuropeo.org), and run in collaboration with Biblissima (Campus Condorcet).

The Training School involves five days of intensive training (a combination of practical sessions and lectures) in the use of IRHT databases (www.irht.cnrs.fr), tools, and applications developed by Digital Humanities team of Biblissima (www.biblissima-condorcet.fr). Participants will receive a solid theoretical foundation and will develop hands-on experience with research tools dealing with the circulation of texts, manuscripts collections, and transmission of knowledge, with a special focus on interoperability between databases and new methodologies (including ontologies and TEI-XML).

Languages of instruction: French and English.

You will find the programme, registration conditions and pre-requisites, and the registration form in the attached documents.

Applications must be submitted by midnight Monday 10 February 2014.
